Qornex USDT terms

Direct partner is a person who has registered with your personal affiliate link. They occupy the next free place both in your activated level and in the matrix structure above you.

Places

are spots in the activated level that can be occupied by other users. As soon as all the places are taken, the level automatically restarts.

Spillovers happen if places in your levels are occupied not only by your direct partners, but also by partners of other team members. They can come from above and below.

Spillover from above is a direct partner of your upline.

Spillover from below is a direct partner of your downline.

Qornex USDT terms

Level Cycle is a level with all 14 places taken by partners

Level Restart opens the same level automatically as soon as the two last places are taken, and the reward for these places is allocated to buy this level again

Overtaking happens if you have not activated the level that your downline partner has, so the reward goes to the closest upline partner who activated this level

Freezing happens when your level is complete, but the next more expensive level is not activated. In this case, the missed profit goes to your upline partner

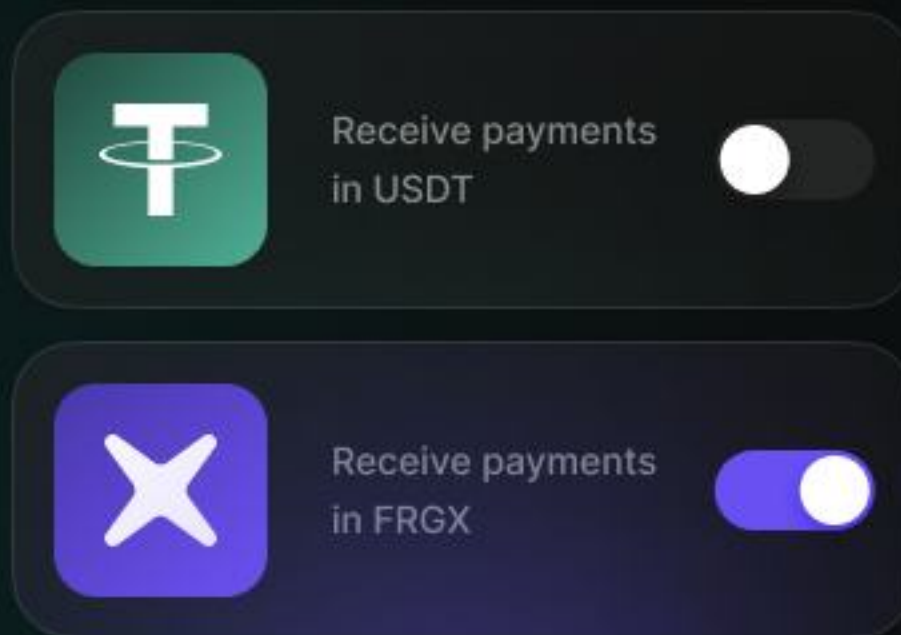

Lost profit occurs when you miss rewards for partners due to overtaking or freezing, and they are redirected to an upline partner

Extra profit is a reward that comes to you from below, because one or more of the downline partners have lost their profits

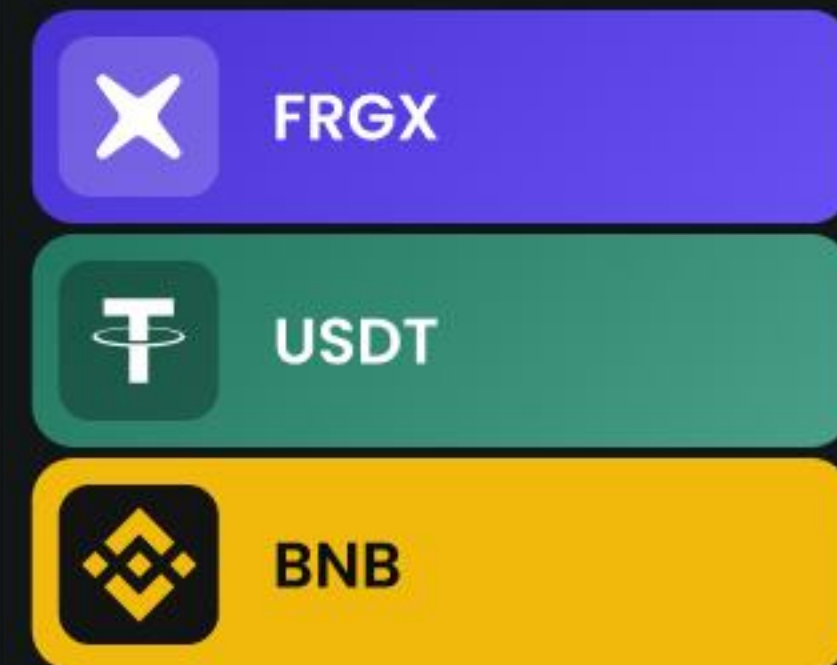

Qornex USDT details

By default, rewards for invited partners are credited in FRGX. You can switch the cryptocurrency to USDT in the settings.

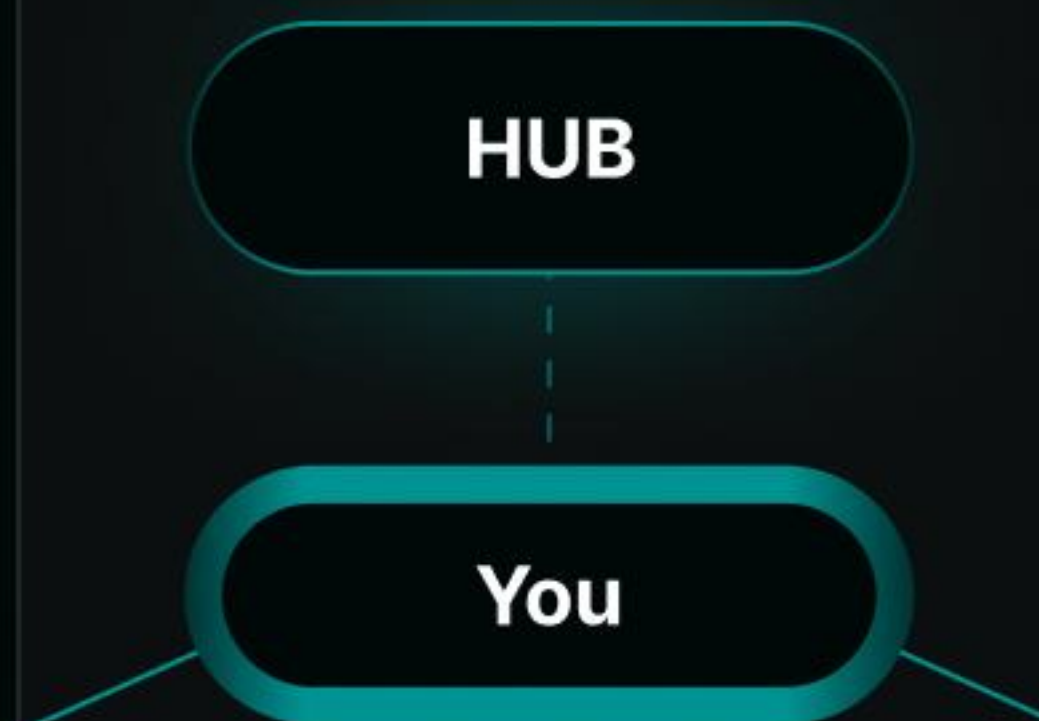

You can register in Qornex and activate levels with USDT, BNB, and FRGX at your choice.

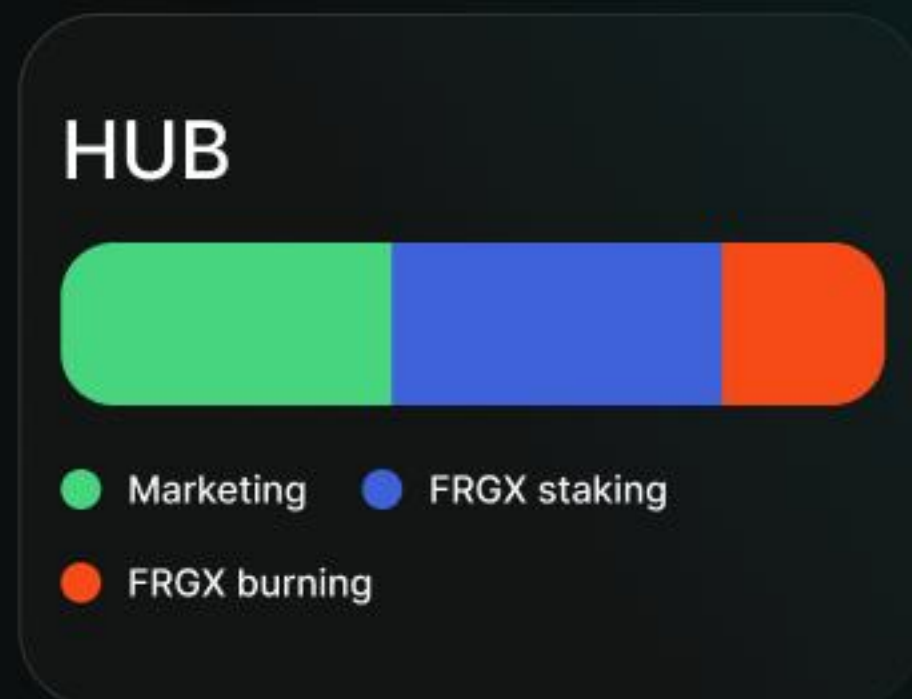

Registration

The hub account is the base of the matrix structure. If users register without a referral link, the hub account will be the default upline.

The rewards received by the HUB account are automatically distributed as follows: 40% is allocated to marketing in USDT, 40% is allocated to the staking pool in FRGX, and 20% is spent on burning FRGX tokens
